Return of Title IV Federal Student Aid as a Result of Withdrawal

Federal financial aid awards will be adjusted according to federal regulations, which stipulate that a student who withdraws retains aid in proportion to the percentage completed of the enrollment period in which he/she was enrolled. If the student withdraws during the first 60% of the payment period, a portion of his/her federal funds must be returned. The percentage of aid earned is determined by dividing the number of calendar days the student attended during the payment period by the total number of calendar days in the payment period. For example, a student who has attended 10% of her payment period will have earned 10% of her federal financial aid award. The remaining 90% of her federal financial aid award must be returned. The student and NECB will share responsibility for returning these funds. Once the student has completed more than 60% of the payment period, no adjustment to the financial aid award is necessary. State and institutional funds will be adjusted according to the regulations governing these programs.

Course Drop/Withdrawal Request Form

To determine the percentage of aid earned, the number of days attended during the semester is divided by the total number of days in the semester. Example:

Anna is an undergraduate student who starts school on April 27th. Her first payment period (the first 16 weeks of instruction) is from April 27th through August 27th. Anna decides that she needs to withdraw from school on May 29th. Anna has attended 33 days in the payment period. The total number of calendar days in the payment period is 123 days.

$$33 \text{ days attended} \div 123 \text{ days in the payment period} = 26.8\%$$

Therefore, Anna has earned 26.8% of the aid she was awarded for the payment period. If she received only an award of $1750 in Subsidized Stafford Loan for the period, she has earned $469 of her Stafford Loan. $1281 would have to be returned to the Department of Education.
